Staying healthy

Exercise

Going for a walk, playing on your bike or scooter, or running around your garden is great for your body and mind.

Sleep

Even though you might not be at school, try to go to bed and get up at the same time as you would normally.

Feel good

Do things that make you feel good, like reading a book, having a dance, baking some cakes or watching a film

Talk

If you're feeling sad or worried, talk to a grownup about this. It's okay to be scared, angry, worried and upset

Be kind

Think about things you could do to help around the house, call someone who might be lonely or help out a neighbour.

How to relax

Simple breathing exercises for all the family to try

Exercise One: The Mountain

1. Image a mountain. You can close your eyes if you want to

2. Imagine you are walking up this mountain. As you walk up, breathe in to the count of 5

3. Imagine you are now at the top of the mountain. Hold this breathe to the count of 5

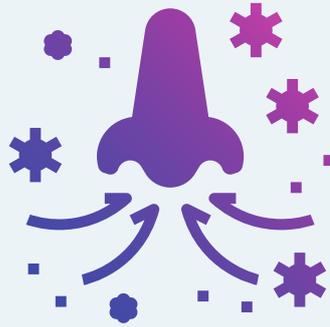

4. Imagine you are walking down the other side of the mountain. Slowly breathe out to the count of 5

5. Repeat steps one to four until you start to feel more relaxed

Exercise Two: Square Breathing

You can use this when feeling stressed or anxious

Breathe in for 4 seconds

Hold for 4 seconds

Hold for 4 seconds

Breathe out for 4 seconds

Exercise Three: Belly Breathing

Step One

- Sit up straight in your chair or lie down if you prefer.
- Make sure you are comfy
- Keep your shoulders back
- Let your arms and legs go floppy
- Let your body feel floppy

Step Two

- Think about your breathing
- Put one hand on your chest and one on your tummy
- Breathe in and out slowly 3 times and try not to move your chest

Step Three

- Take a breathe into your tummy and feel your tummy grow and push out
- Keep your hand on your chest still
- Breathe out slowly and pull your tummy in

Step Four

- Try this breathing until your chest is still and your tummy moves

Exercise Four: Supple stretch

Step One

- Sit up straight in your chair or lie down if you prefer.
- Close your eyes, be still and pretend your bones are made of loose elastic
- Let your legs and arms be floppy and loose
- Let your tummy, neck, head and whole body feel floppy

Step Two

- Imagine someone is now pulling your arms gently, and someone else is pulling your feet
- You are stretching longer and longer
- Your elastic bones and muscles are being stretched out, longer and longer

Step Three

- Take a few seconds to stretch and feel like you're growing
- PING.... someone lets go of your arms and legs
- Let all of your bones and muscles relax as you become floppy again

Exercise Five: 5,4,3,2,1

Work through the five senses to calm you in difficult or stressful situations

Look

5

What five things can you see? Say them out loud, for example, 'I see a phone', 'I can see a pen

Listen

4

What four things can you hear? It could be birds singing outside or your parents talking

Feel

3

Pay attention your body and think about three things you can touch or feel. For example, 'I can feel a cold drink in my water bottle'

Smell

2

What two things can you smell? This could be your dinner cooking in the kitchen or freshly cut grass outside

Taste

1

What one thing can you taste, or would love to taste right now? It could be something you're eating now or your favourite food

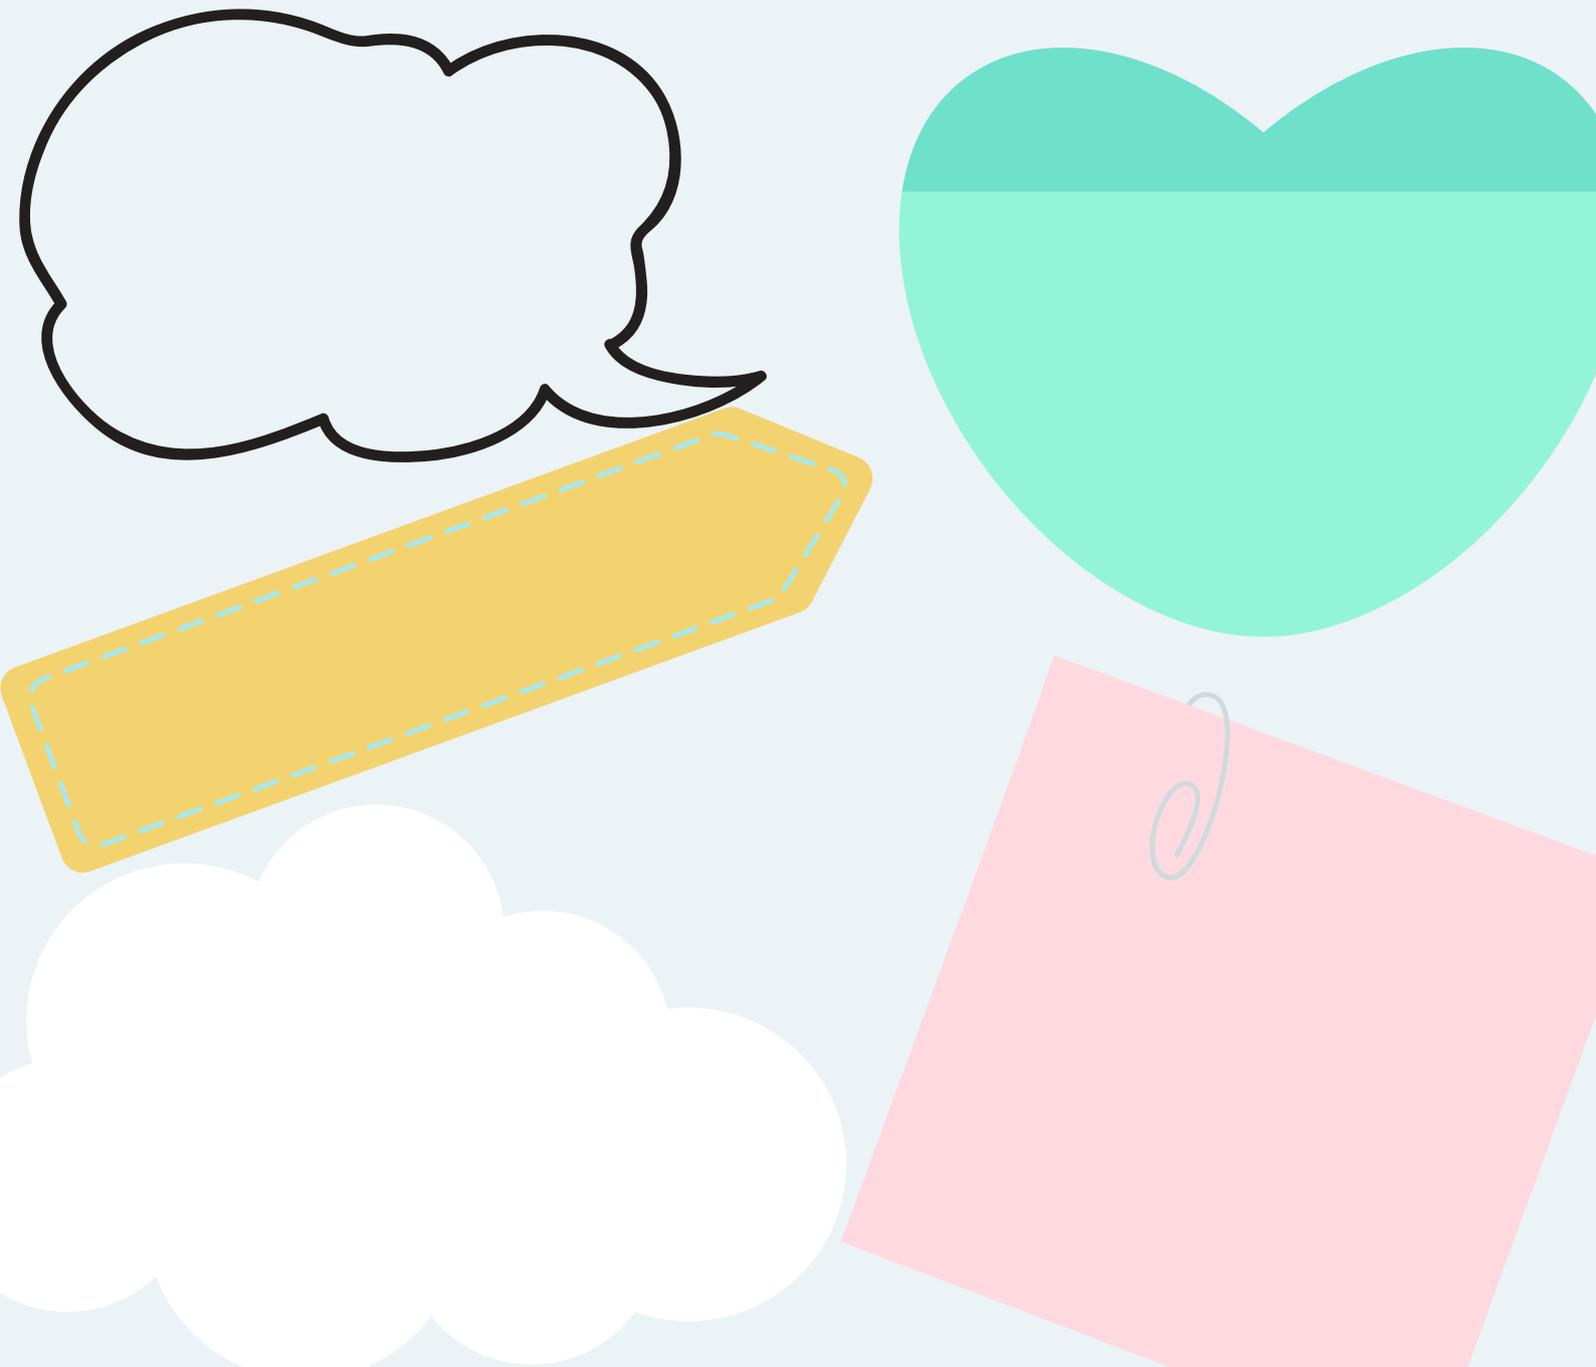

Take a deep breath

Notice what is around you right now and how different it is from the difficult or stressful situation

Saying goodbye to your worries

At times like these, there's probably lots of thoughts and worries going round in your head.

Writing them down can be a good way to help clear your mind.

Staying connected

It's so important to keep talking, letting people know how you're feeling and also having some fun conversations with your family too

Let's get talking

Try these conversation starters with your family

If you were an animal, what would you be?

What would you tell an alien about planet earth?

Which film would you like to be in and why?

What is your dream job?

Family and friends

It's hard not being able to see members of your family and friends at school.

Write them a little note on this postcard to let them know how you're feeling
